

DEAD DIAMOND BANDIT NOTORIOUSLY KNOWN IN OGDEN AND STATE

When Seth E. Thomas, Ogden jeweler, fired two shots into the body of John P. Raush Saturday night at the jewelry store, he was not only a bandit but a notorious one. Raush was a well-known diamond bandit in the intermountain country. He was brought to a close in going into the records it was found that Raush, as a boy, was sent to the industrial school here in 1901, after an alleged robbery of a Salt Lake store. This began his career of crime, which ended Saturday night with his death.

It was also learned that Raush was well known in Ogden, having spent much of his time here when not in jail or prison. His first sentence to the Utah state penitentiary was pronounced in the district court here December 15, 1904, when he was given seven years for burglary. The record in the case, which was brought to light in the county clerk's office this morning, show that with a man named John Ward, he stole a suitcase and several other articles valued at $101.50. The goods are shown to have belonged to John C. Lewis, although the actual date of the robbery are not in the records.

Included with the suitcase was a Browning automatic gun, a watch, clothing and other articles, according to the records. The men were tried before a jury. Raush then went under the alias of Frank Gordon. A photograph of him taken at the time shows him to be the same man, although with a more youthful face.

Raush lived with his father and mother in Salt Lake as a boy and is believed to have been born in the intermountain country. His father was German and went back to Germany, it is said, and as far as is known never returned here. His mother, however, remained in Salt Lake.

After Raush had served his sentence for the Ogden burglary he is reported to have gone to Canada where he served a short sentence for a similar offense. In 1904 he was sentenced in Provo for burglary and returned to the penitentiary. It is said he served only a short jail sentence for minor offenses.

Since his parole from the Utah state penitentiary in 1915, he is known to have been part of a ring of criminals who have operated in Butte, Mont.; Pocatello, Idaho; Ogden and Salt Lake. It is also believed that he has mixed up in the robbery at Brigham City recently when one robber was shot and killed.

As a boy, while in the industrial school, Raush is said to have been continually in trouble and was known as the school bully.

OGDEN MAN'S MOTHER DIES JUSTIFIED IN SHOOTING MAN

Mrs. William Zuppahn Passes Away At Hospital in Belvidere, Ill.

Act of Ogden Jeweler Comes Under Category of Justifiable Manslaughter

Mrs. William Zuppahn, mother of W. E. Zuppahn of Ogden, died Saturday night at the St. Joseph's hospital in Belvidere, Ill., after an illness of more than a year. Word regarding her death was received Sunday morning by her son. Mrs. Zuppahn was 63 years of age, having been born in Warsaw, Ill., on December 5, 1863. She is survived by five children: Mrs. R. V. Carpenter of Belvidere, Ill.; C. A. Zuppahn, federal district vocational officer of Minneapolis; W. E. Zuppahn, advertising manager of the Ogden Standard-Examiner; Miss Eleanor Zuppahn of the United States Public Health service and Lieut. Lloyd Zuppahn of the United States army at Fort McIntosh, Texas. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at Belvidere.

Seth E. Thomas, jeweler, whose bullets terminated the career of John P. Raush Saturday night, is exempt from arrest, according to County Attorney Joseph B. Bates, the shooting of Raush being an act which would be included either in the category of justifiable manslaughter or excusable manslaughter.

"It was a clear case of a man taking a desperate chance to prevent the theft of property belonging to him and in the eyes of the law Mr. Thomas has committed no offense."

Scores of people of the city have expressed concern over the probability of Mr. Thomas being arrested. According to County Attorney Joseph B. Bates, the law entertains the same opinion as the majority of the people who have expressed themselves on the subject, viz. That Thomas had every right to kill the man, not only to protect his property, but in defense of his own life, which was threatened by the burglar who had Thomas covered with a revolver.

Don't forget the Catholic ladies bazaar Thursday, December 2, in the St. Joseph's hall.

On inspection—Supt. E. L. King of the Southern Pacific, in charge of the Salt Lake division, will return to Ogden tomorrow from points in Nevada. Supt. King has been on an inspection tour of the Southern Pacific on the Salt Lake division.

The Ogden Rotary club will hold the weekly meeting at the Weber club Wednesday night of this week according to Secretary A. P. Merrill. Several unique features have been planned for the meeting.

Reports from the various committees in charge of the drive for new members for the Ogden Chamber of Commerce will be read and the drive formally brought to a close. But one more committee remains to report on the drive, according to Secretary J. J. Stille of the Ogden Chamber of Commerce.

Thus far, the Rotarians have added $445 monthly to the funds of the Chamber of Commerce, which is more than $7000 for a year, and which is more than 100 per cent more than the organization has been receiving during the time it has existed. With the total amount the Chamber of Commerce will receive in the future about $14,000 per year, with which to carry on its work.

Japanese Fined for Breaking Dry Laws

Ko Sato pleaded guilty to drunkenness when he appeared before Judge D. R. Roberts of the city court this morning. Sato was arrested at 10 o'clock last night at Twenty-fourth street and Lincoln.

Through an interpreter, Sato told that he worked in the country in the beet fields. He was coming to Ogden when a white man in an automobile asked him if he wanted a ride. The man then sold him liquor, he said.

Sato's case is the second of this nature to appear before the court during the past few days. A short time ago a Mexican named Montano was arrested and fined $50 for drunkenness. He said a white man had sold him the liquor.

According to word from the police, foreigners are being victimized by bootleggers.

Sato was found guilty of drunkenness and was given the usual first offense sentence, $50 or 50 days.

HUNT FOR GEMS ATTRACTS EAGER THROG TO ALLEY

Many Ogdenites inspected the Seth Thomas jewelry store which was robbed Saturday night from the exterior yesterday and in due time the alley was black with eager diamond seekers. Officer W. W. Richardson also found several stones.

The robbery was reported to have netted the robbers at least $5,000 said one of the eager on-lookers. I wonder where the diamonds are that were secured from the store? Surely there couldn't have been more than thirty.

But there were—and they were bright stones, with a twinkling as bright as the sun. Yes, but they were not real—far from it, merely imitations, and the Ogdenites who found stones yesterday can now rest assured that the stones they found were imitation and not the real thing.

It was revealed that some practical joker had scattered spurious gems in the alleyway.

Unwelcome Guest at Hotel Draws $10 Fine

Alleged to have been sleeping at the depot hotel without the knowledge of the management, R. J. Allison of Cincinnati, Ohio, was arrested on a charge of trespass. He appeared before the city court this morning and entered a plea of guilty. Judge D. R. Roberts imposed a fine of $10 or the alternative of 10 days in the city jail.

Allison, the police claim, had been sneaking into a room at the depot hotel for several nights in succession.

ASTUTE OGDENITE VICTIM OF PAWKY BAD CHECK ARTIST

Check artists are daily becoming more audacious in plying their trade police officers say.

Last week, a well dressed young man called at a residence in Ogden. He carried with him a check which bore a poor forgery of the man's signature and represented himself as a messenger from a local bank.

Upon asking to see the man whose name was signed on the check he spoke as follows:

"Mr. So-and-so, I was sent here from the City Bank in regard to this check. There seems to be some irregularity in connection with it." He presented the check which was immediately identified as a bank forgery.

"Can I have one of your cancelled checks to take to the bank for the purpose of comparison?" the pseudo bank messenger asked. He was given a cancelled check.

That afternoon, the accommodation Ogdenite after considerable pondering over the matter, called at his bank to straighten out the matter. He found that the man professing to be a bank messenger had obtained the cancelled check for the purpose of using the same for a pattern and had forged a check for $25.

It is reported in police circles that a man, apparently the same "bank messenger," attempted the same trick in North Ogden, but the check, which was for almost $2500, was turned down at the bank.

Early Acquitted on Election Fraud Charge

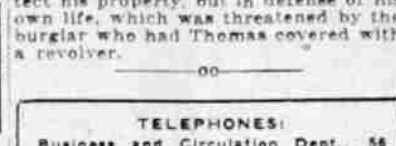

Charles C. Early, colored, alleged to have violated the corrupt practices act at the last election, was found not guilty and ordered released when tried before Judge D. R. Roberts of the city court this morning.

Mr. Early was alleged to have signified by motioning with his hands how John Ballard, another colored man, should vote. The evidence, according to Judge Roberts, was not sufficient for conviction as Ballard and Early both emphatically stated that there had been no intention on the part of Early to influence a vote, accordingly the defendant was found not guilty.

Ballard, the testimony showed, was severely crippled with rheumatism, when he went to the polls to vote. He dropped his ballot, which Early received for him as it fell from his hand. The vote was challenged by Charles H. Scheffer, one of the checkers for the Farmer-Labor party. The vote was allowed, however, by the judges of election.
